This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

WESTMORLAND CHURCH NOTES.

Westmorland
CHURCH NOTES

BEING THE

Heraldry, Epitaphs, and other Inscriptions, in the Thirty-two Ancient Parish Churches and Churchyards of that County.

COLLECTED AND ARRANGED
BY
EDWARD BELLASIS,
Lancaster Herald;
Of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister at Law.

Epitomise the life; pronounce, you can,
Authentic epitaphs on some of these
Who, from their lowly mansions hither brought,
Beneath this turf lie mouldering at our feet:
So, by your records may our doubts be solv'd,
And so, not searching higher, we may learn
To prize the breath we share with human kind;
And look upon the dust of man with awe.
WORDSWORTH'S Excursion.

ARCHER.

(In. Parr Chapel). Here lyes John Archer, Esq., Doctor of Physick, and One of His Majestie's Justices of the Peace for the County of Westmorland, who D. L. on the fourth of December, 1735. He was a worthy Man, a skilfull Physician, an impartial Magistrate, and an Amiable Friend. His mind was Generous, his Temper Sweet, his Understanding Extensive; in Nature Compassionate, in Virtue Severe, He adorn'd the Reasoning Being with the Dignity of Morality, the True Christian with the Sanctity of Religion. He was a Delight to his Acquaintances, an Honour to his Profession, and a Happiness to his Country. Dear and Desirable is the Memory of Doctor Archer, Cruel and Lamentable is the Loss of him. Every Eye Overflows with Tears, every Breast is fill'd with Sorrow, and every House is become the House of Mourning.

* Mr. Bellasis visited Kendal, 2nd August, 1875, 9th, 10th, and 11th August, 1876, and at other times, and finally in November, 1888. The help afforded by Mr. T. Jennings, local antiquary, in adding to the inscriptions and in noting positions and corrections has been of a most valuable kind. Mr. G. Rushforth parish clerk, has likewise assisted herein, and also placed every facility at the disposal of Mr. Bellasis in the course of the carrying through of this, the most extensive and important section of the "Notes." Mr. T. Wilson, and Mr. R. J. Whitwell have also given aid and encouragement in this heavy work first taken in hand so long ago. Many stones with inscriptions were (Mr. Bellasis is informed) buried some time since, following upon a call to owners (partially responded to) to help in the task of putting the churchyard in order.

(In. S. E). Arms (on lozenge) ar. saltire gu. impaling per fess gu. & ar. 3 cinquefoils counterchanged (Swinburne). Here lie the Remains of Isabella Crathorne, Widow of Thomas Crathorne Esquire of Crathorne In the County of York. Though left to deplore the loss Of an affectionate Husband At an age in which time Had scarcely diminished Th' attractions of her person She prefer'd The melancholy pleasure Of bearing his name To every solicitation Which press'd her to a second Union. Those pledges of their love Who lost in infancy A Father's care, When reason began to dawn Beheld in his faithful Relict A Parent Entitled to redoubled affection. A display of her amiable qualities From one Whom Nature had taught to love And mature reflexion to venerate her Might be Suspected Of fond exaggeration. To prevent This injustice to her memory He is silent with respect to her Virtues; And only testifies His sorrows For the loss of so excellent a Mother By his wish That her example May every day become less rare. She d. 7th of april 1789 In the 53d y. of her age. Requiescat in pace. (Mr. Jennings' copy 1861. bur. 1789 Ap. 21 Isabella C. of Stramongate, papist.

Had Loyalty been Life, Brave Guy, thou'd'st Than Stood Kendall's Everlasting Alderman,
Nay, could the joynte united force of All
That's good or vert'ous over death prevaile
Thy life's pure thre'd noe Time or Fate could sever
And thou'dst still Liv'd to pray, King live for Ever
But thou art gone; A proof such Vertue is Too Good for Earth, And onely fit for Bliss,
And blissful Seats; Where, if bless'd Spirits doe
Concern themselves with any thing below
Thy pray'r's the same, Thou still do'st Supplicate
For Charles his Life, For England's Church, & State,
Whil'st to Thy just Eternal Memory,
Envy & Malice must in this Agree,
None better Lov'd, or Serv'd, his Prince than Thee.

* Such is Machell's and Hill's account. The old tomb, (formerly in the centre of this chapel, when it extended further into the churchyard) is now (1888) more than half destroyed. The lady's figure, cut to the waist, appears, and such of the structure as remains is run (end on) against the north wall. Canon Ware (Cumbd. & Westmd. Antiq. & Arch. Soc. Trans. pt. II, vol. I pp. 193-4) cites Whitaker as noting Middleton impaling Tunstal, and (if Mr. Bellasis understands him rightly) suggests Fitzwilliam instead of Tunstal (i.e. lozengy and a label). Now Fitzwilliam may be intended for the strange trick above in No. V, & the Middleton coat on the sinister side of the shield may stand for Eleanor Middleton married to Fitzwilliam c. 1330., but this Tunstal on the sinister side of the shield would have to be dexter, if it is to make way for John Fitzwilliam. The known Middleton-Tunstall match is later than this tomb's probable date. Whitaker apparently only follows Machell with these 3 combs; & some such early Middleton-Tunstal match is quite as possible as the Fitzwilliam-Middleton alliance; and neither need make way for the other.

* Mr. Hodgson (see note p. 130) cites Machell the Antiquary's account of all this heraldry, but neither of them identify the various coats & Machell is occasionally shown by Mr. Hodgson to be inaccurate or incomplete in his blazon. N. & B. I, 541, speak of 3 "defaced coats" only, at the west end! Mr. Bellasis' while naming the quarterings &c., has added (in brackets) the proper metals and tinctures, where Machell has not done so, and even certain charges where the monument is imperfect. Mr. Hodgson thinks it possible that in the latter's time the colours, so far as they are given by him, were extant on the monument.

† This N.E. corner has been knocked off by some violent catastrophe.

‡ They look like saltires and are sometimes 8, sometimes 10 in number here. See Mr. Bellasis' note in Cumbd. and Westmd Antiq. and Arch. Soc. Trans., pt. 1, vol. iv., p. 212.

* This coat is really divided here per fess with the 3 lions in chief, and 3 ermine spots in base, but it may have been intended correctly as given above.

† The relative position of these supporters should be reversed. See Coll: Arms, Sir E. Walker's Nobility.

‡ Bendy of 6 or 10, is another version, Segar III. 949-1040.

§ As Ufflett heir immediately succeeds St. Philibert heir, according to the genealogies, and the latter does not appear in her pedigree as introducing another quartering, this coat has not been identified.

|| Mr. Bellasis notes in base a straight and an indented line, Machell notes both this coat and Montgomery with an engrailed border.

¶ i.e. Glover's Yorkshire Visitation 1584-5 (Coll. Arms 2nd D. 5. 526), gives a chief and no sinister canton.

 i.e. This coat was borne by Mary Parke, who, although no heiress, was mother of Cecily coheir to John Mortimer. (Coll. Arms, Segar's Baronage pt. 2, p. 790), Vert, an eagle displayed or, within a border az. is also another Mortimer coat, (id).

WHARTON.

S. m. William Wharton late of Waitby, who d. l. March the 10th, 1808 aged 70 & of Margaret his wife who d. the 20 October 1807 aged also 70. They lived respected and d. sincerely lamented by their afflicted children. This stone records also the death of their infant son William, January 31st 1776.

WILKINSON.

Here are deposited the remains of John Wilkinson late of Hartley, who d. l. December 7th 1811 aged 62 y. This stone is erected by Margaret his widow.

WILLIAMSON.

Come & let us return unto the Lord for he hath torn and he will heal us, he hath smitten and he will bind us up. After 2 days will he revive us, in the 3rd day he will raise us up & we shall live in his sight. Then shall we know if we follow on to know the Lord.

In m. Elizabeth Williamson late wife of John Williamson who d. l. the 12th day of June 1802 aged 24 y.

WILLIAMSON.

One fate surprised & one grave received them both. To m. Thos. Wilkinson aged 44 & of Thomas his son aged 13 y. who were both drowned Dec. 7, 1811.

Soon will the Saviour wake their sleeping dust,
By sin consigned to greedy death a prey,
Then shall the rising bodies of the just,
With ceaseless rapture hail the glorious day.

WILSON.

WILSON, BANKS.

(Flat tomb on 4 pillars, & anchor). Beneath this stone are deposited the remains of Thomas Wilson, surgeon, formerly of His Majesty's Royal Navy (son of Richard & Nancy Wilson of Kirkby Stephen.) He died November 20th 1831 aged 41.

O'er thy cold dust depriv'd of breath
No sculptur'd urn we raise
Nor mock the lonely house of death
With vainly pompous praise.
It could not reach th' unconscious ear
That mouldering lies below,
Nor from it could thy clay cold breast
A transient gladness know,
But treasur'd in each pensive mind
Thy monument shall be

Until life's troublous dream is past
Our tear shall flow for thee
Mary Ann Banks his sister died Feby. 27th 1831, aged 31.

* Mr. Bellasis first visited Kirkby Thore 20th May, 1874. The Rev. J. Heelis, the present Rector, (1888) has taken much interest in this section and afforded valuable help and encouragement. For additional inscriptions up to 1886, and for comparing the whole of Mr. Bellasis' MS. with the originals, as also for various elucidations on worn stones he is indebted to the singular kindness of the late Mr. R. W. Crosby, who, moreover, marked the positions of all the epitaphs.

Reader stop, lend an ear,
Think on my tender year.
Ye Young adornd with vernal Bloom
Whom pining Sickness neer Oppressd,
Weep oer this deep funeral Tomb,
In Robes of pale Eyd sorrow dressd.
Alas! I saw This silver Flower,
Bright as the Summers Morn and Gay,
Warmd with the Suns etherial Power,
Till in the Eve it Dyd away—
O Virgins hear this mournful Truth,
The fairest Maid pale Death destroys.
The fatal Hydrop seizd my Youth
Blasted the Bud of Springing Joy
O ye in Health strive to improve
Th' Uncertain Hour allotted ye,
For at The Bud the Lord thro' Love
May call forth ye likewise as me.

With a zeal and an ardour that distinguished him in his profession he first sought employment in those countries where war was carried on; courage in action, patience under privation, a promptitude to share every fatigue & danger with his soldiers, ensured to him the love of all who were placed under his command; to his friends he was endeared by his singular frankness & simplicity of manner, his high sense of honor and affectionate disposition. He was b. Novr. II MDCCLXXXI, Married Mary IIID Da. of Wm. Earl of Lonsdale, and D. at Rome Feby X, MDCCCXXVIII after a long and painful illness endured with characteristic firmness and Christian resignation. Impressed with a grateful recollection of the happiness he had enjoyed at Lowther he expressed a wish in his latter moments that his remains might be deposited in this place: that he felt such a wish has mingled with the higher consolations of his afflicted widow, the tender assurance that the hours he passed here were among the happiest of his life, and in love and affection to the memory of her departed husband, and in pious hope that her infant son may hereby be incited to emulate the virtues of his father she has erected this monument. Arms, 4ly. 1 & 4 az. cross moline ar. Stay Reader and herewith leave one groan,
If not for my sake, for thy own,
Since impartial death that me
Hath overtaken followes thee,
Hast thou Health, Strength, Art, Industry,
Yet dye thou must: for these had I.
Onely live well, and ever live:
Grace Immortality doth give,
Avoid sin as thou wouldst do Hell
Then Heaven is thine, Reader Farewell.

* Mr. Bellasis first visited Morland with the Cumberland and Westmorland Archæological Society in 1875, and took a few inscriptions, and then again 17th August, 1886, with Mr. Crump. Mr. Matthew Gask and Captain Francis Markham have most kindly gone over the ground and added to and corrected the work of 1875 and 1886 up to June, 1889. "In the church there is a slab with the matrix of a brass, but the brass has disappeared. In the churchyard there is a headstone in a like state, and also another on the S. side of the church and four altar tombs near the E. end, the inscriptions on which are totally illegible." (Mr. Crump.)

† On other pews here belonging to the Lord of the manor of Newby are initials R—H.F.C.—R.K.—R.K.—T.H.—R.W.—J.D.—R.Y.—J.W.—T.H.—R.E.—T. H.J.

One intramural inscription is hidden by pews, thus:—In this parish 2 Yeares His . . . S . . .

Again, for example, outside E. of the church can be read this much:—Sacred to the memory of . . . Oct. . . . Al . . . RA Feb. . . . . ED . . . . TO . . . . T . . . . W . . . .

An account of this church appears in the Kendal Mercury for 19th June, 1858.

The Rev. R. W. Metcalfe sends me the two following burial entries from the parish registers :—Novr. 19, 1676, Mtris. ffothergill of Tarnehouse. May 17, 1681, Julian wife of Richard ffallowfield.

With respect to the latter date it is only given here because Bishop Nicolson's 1703 Visitation, as edited by Chancellor Ferguson (p. 43), refers to the Julian Fothergill inscription as bearing the date 19 Nov., 1681. N. & B. (i. 528), give the proper date 19 Nov., 1676, agreeing with the registers. It is curious, however, that the christian name Julian is not given in the 1676 register, and that a Julian Fallowfield does appear in the 1681 register.

Mr. Bellasis thanks the vicar for all his kind help, and the great interest he has shown in this section. Of the Coulston-Bird inscription at p. 256 he observes 31 Aug., 1883 :—The age of Anne Coulston who died 12 June, 1789, is entered in the register of burials as 74. As to the date on the reverse of the stone, viz : Decr. 26th, 1784, there is no burial entry between Novr. 16, 1784, and Jany. 6, 1785. I rather think the year 1784 ought to have been 1783 when a James Shaw of Garshill was buried. He married a Mary Coulston of Waingarths in 1761. Since you copied the inscription it has been re-set, and a considerable portion of it has been defaced, so that scarcely any lettering is left.

* "It is highly probable that the porch now called Hilton Porch formerly belonged to the Tower, which supposition is strengthened by the Nevil arms above the window, inasmuch as the Tower belonged to the Nevils. These arms are now set up over the entrance of a pigsty belonging to the Vicarage. 'To what base uses we may return, Horatio!' No, it is more likely that ye Nevil arms were in the Bleatarn Porch, and yet Machell has made a mistake in saying they were in the Hilton Porch. The Bleatarn Porch belonged to the Tower, which was Nevils." Hill MSS., 7. p. 448.

John Braithwaite of Orrest Head Esquire, whose love of God and man prompted him to munificent acts in furtherance of education and religion, this monument is erected by friends and neighbours desirous to record their grateful sense of his benefactions and their esteem for his virtues. A sound understanding, kindly affections and firm integrity were united in him with a singular modesty, and rendered him, both in public and in private, useful, beloved, and reepected. For the benefit of the poor around him he added at his private cost an aisle to St. Mary's chapel, Birthwaite; and dying on the 1st of March A.D. 1854 left the endowments herewith inscribed to promote the improved education of youth in this and adjacent parishes. His mortal remains are interred on the south outside this church in which he was for many years a devout and constant worshipper; his whole life bearing witness that he was a sincere, a humble, and a faithful Christian.

Bequests of Mr. Braithwaite £2000 to the trustees of the endowed school, Bowness, the annual proceeds to be applied as an exhibition to St. John's College, Cambridge, tenable for four years by a youth born in Applethwaite or Undermillock, educated two years in the said school and nominated by a majority of the trustees thereof; and during vacancy of exhibition, in any manner for the benefit of the said school, or of any youth or youths under the age of twenty-five years who shall have been educated thereat, according to the discretion of the said trustees. £1200 to the same; the annual proceeds of one moiety to be applied towards the salary of an undermaster of the boys, of the other moiety to be applied to the salary of the mistress of the girls. £1000 to the trustees of the school for Great and Little Langdale; £1000—for Troutbeck; £1000—at Birthwaite; £1000 at Ings. In the last four cases the annual proceeds to be applied as an encrease to the salary of the master or otherwise for the benefit of the school according to the discretion of the respective trustees. The above bequests were left free of legacy duty.

* The text of these verses referring to the Gunpowder Plot, as here copied by Mr. Bellasis, agrees, save in the original "Fauxis," re-instated for the unmeaning substituted "Tauris," with that of Chancellor Ferguson, who notices this destruction of the whole point of the composition in his "Bowness Church & its Old Glass," p. 6, reprinted from the Transactions of the Cumberland & Westmorland Antiquarian & Archæological Society, in 1879. In Mr. Clowes's "Description of the East Window of St. Martin's, Windermere," p. 7, 1874, whose exact division of the lines has not been followed, there seem to be a few small inaccuracies such as "Exultat Anglia!" in italics and brackets, and with a note of exclamation; the "f" in "Christoferus" is changed to "ph," &c. The Rev. R. P. Graves, Sub-Dean of the Chapel Royal, Dublin, who was long resident curate in charge at Windermere, translates the above lines (see Clowes, p. 7,). The late Mr. Hill (Hill MSS., ii., 223, 237,) declares them to be "not inelegant." In a livelier rendering which has come into Mr. Bellasis' way he recalls the line, "I'm safe from jaws of old Guy Fawkes." Mr. Hill tells us that the verses have been repainted since 1843, and that when the church was whitewashed some of the words were obliterated, i.e., Hic. euge, Psallat, libera, generosus (sometimes read "benevolus,") and parts of quem, signat, nunc, conspicienda, and renovante. The lines are painted upon the plaster on the underside or soffit of the 2nd arch opposite the church in old English characters. For a brief account of this Christopher, of Calgarth, who died in 1652, the Chancellor (p. 7,) refers us to "White's Lays & Legends of the Lake Country," p. 293, and to N. & B. I., p. 183.

In Earth at length my Bed is made,
A Bed which Christ did not disdaine;
Altho' it could not him retaine,
His deadlie Foes might plainlie see
Over Sinn and Death his Victorie,
Here must I rest till Christ shall let me see
His promised Jerusalem and her Faelicitie.

Compare these with the Chancellor's reference, p. 19, to Machell's sketches, i.e. I. 3 somethings on a bend, and II. 3 escallops on a bend. II. Thornburgh impaled with gules 2 bars argent. III. 2 bars gules and 3 escallops (for Errington) impaling 3 bars gu. (?) IV. 1 bend sinister lozengy az. and the same impaling sa. 3 escallops ar. (Strickland). Mr. Hill is sometimes only citing Machell, and the above notes chiefly puzzle, be they Machell's or Hill's. Mr. Bellasis gives them here for what they are worth. "Hutchinson's Excursion" is the authority for Hartley; and Mr. Hill calls Hogson, Honson. Mr. Clowes adds Hodgson, Hoghton, or Houghton, and wrongly calls the latter the Prior. The Chancellor now spells Bareaye, Baraye. Mr. Clowes suggests Barrow, and "Fis . . ." as being Fisher or Fishwick. The Chancellor's Eure coat has clearly ousted the supposed Levens (with the whole field as argent) of Mr. Clowes. With respect to the Kirkby group, Mr. Clowes states that "over their heads there once were the remains of an inscription on which appeared 'something like' the name of Kirkby." If so, Kirkby it may be, although the Chancellor on making out the charge upon the canton to be "more of a" maunch (as he cautiously puts it), than a moline cross, argues on the strength of that for Bardsey vice Kirkby. The arms on the lady's kirtle being gone he can only suggest here Leyborne. Mr. Clowes makes that 2nd coat (on her mantle) to be barry of 6, and calls it Fitz-Alan. The Chancellor throws cold water upon this, on the ground that this coat No. 2 is merely No. 1 repeated. It is true that the ladies' mantles in other cases here do repeat the husbands' coats; and this may have been the intention, even if the two coats, as a fact, now-a-days, are not identical on the glass. The Chancellor doubts Stockdale's 1844 suggestion of Swetenham, because Machell's Sketches show those 3 somethings, &c., (already referred to) but Mr. Bellasis follows Stockdale's definite statement because Machell, or Hill, or the two together, are far less easy to follow. Mr. Hill, it may be added, observes that the ladies head-gear is apparently temp. H. 8, and refers to "Boutell's Brasses," p. 93. As to the question whence this window came, Hill says:—"Beck, in his History of Furness Abbey, doubts West's authority as to the E. window ever being brought from that Abbey. He says from Cartmel Priory, as the name of the Prior, Sub-Prior, and the arms of that house are yet discernible therein. Besides, the dimensions of E. window, he says, at Furness, which were 23 feet 6 inches in breadth, and 47 feet high, do not correspond with the window at Windermere. This may be true, but I never find that this window is mentioned as the E. window at Furness. It may have been some other window of that abbey," &c. Hill MSS. ii., 213. The arguments of archæologists show that Cartmel Priory, and not Furness Abbey, once owned this glorious old Catholic window.

*1. Lawrence of Lancashire bore argent a cross raguly gules (vol. i. hujus lib., p. 102,) & Inglethorpe (a Huddleston quartering) argent a cross engrailes gules (Coll. Arms, K. 7, 63,) or gules a cross engrailed argent (Coll. Arms I. 9, 26,) which last Mr. Hill approaches with his version here of a cross invecked. II. Urswick, a Fleming quartering (Coll. Arms, C. 39, 17 b.) Machell & Hill vaguely call the plates roundles, & Mr. Clowes, following Sir W. Dugdale, Norroy (Coll. Arms, C. 39, 17 b. 1665, Westmorland Visitation,) blazons them as lozenges argent each charged with a saltire (gules). IV. Huddleston, (a Fleming quartering). Chancellor Ferguson in letter of 22nd May, 1878, to Mr. Bellasis, notes the label as vert, but follows Clowes in print with azure. The label is left out altogether by Hill. Mr. Bellasis assigns the preference to Huddlestone rather than to Fleming on the slender ground that the latter is a fret & not fretty. These two forms, however, are often interchanged. Thus Huddleston is gules a fret argent in Sir H. St. George, Clarenceux's 1615 Westmorland Visitation, (Coll. Arms, I.C.B., 2, 19,) and gules fretty argent in the Book of Standards, (Coll. Arms, I. 9, 26). Fretty is wont to crystallize into a fret as time runs on. Mr. Bellasis has ventured to assign the entry in connection here to Levenshulme of Lancashire, that bore argent a fleur-de-lis, sable. The precise coat as blazoned above is recorded to Morden (Coll. Arms, D. 19, 73,) & the following suggestions are added by Chancellor Ferguson: Dixon bore gules a fleur-de-lis or, and a chief ermine (Coll. Arms, E.D.N. alphabet & Fr. West, S. J's. Furness Abbey), & Rogers bore azure a fleur-de-lis or, on a chief argent, a bugle horn stringed sable quartered by Huddleston, (Coll. Arms, I.C.B., 2, 19), or argent a fleur-de-lis, sable, a chief gules. V. Harrington. Hill repeats this coat as No. 6, & says that Machell omits it (i.e., the repetition?) VI. Bardsey, of Lancashire, (Coll. Arms, C. 23, 3rd cal. 71, & C. 24, 189). Hill puts this all within a border, and leaves out the supposed maunch. The crest of the Prestons, Cartmel benefactors (a squirrel) (Coll. Arms, C. 37), appears on this glass, & if the canton here, perchance, bore a cinquefoil the coat would be Preston, or if a cross, it would be one of the Broughton coats (Coll. Arms, E.D.N. alphabet), or if a cross moline, Kirkby (Coll. Arms, C. 37, 92 b). Hill, after Machell (& without blazoning the field) erroneously describes Leyborne's 6 lioncels here as squirrels. 2 squirrels figure as supporters of Wharton impaling Lancaster or Preston (p. 152, hujus lib.) VII. Huddleston. Clowes says, "probably" Fleming, of Rydal. VIII. Grey, &c. Hill makes 2 & 3 to be 6 annulets 3 & 3 gules, while for 1 & 4 he speaks of argent 6 bars azure, on a chief gules, a maunch or. Clowes rightly remarks that if first tincture & metal of 2 & 3 in text were reversed this coat would be Hastings. Argent a maunch sable is one, but not the only Hastings coat. Machell notes here bendy of 6, or & gules a lion rampant sable, the last changed by the schoolmaster (who, with a ladder, accompanied Machell on his inspection two centuries ago) into 6 pellets; with a 2nd quarter as the 1st. IX. Grey. Clowes says, 2 bars azure (? 3 bars azure, Coll. Arms, E.D.N. alphabet). X. Middleton. The Chancellor in a letter, but not in print, says, a saltire engrailed, so do Hill & Clowes. Engrailed may not be made out now, but engrailed it must once have been.? XI. Lowick. Hill erroneously speaks of on a chief 3 bezants. For the supposed Lawrence coat here, neither Clowes nor the Chancellor in print say a cross wavy as the latter does, however, in letter to Mr. Bellasis, & as does Machell, who, along with Hill, puts Lowick as 2 & 3 with 3 roundles or lozenges in chief, & Lawrence 1 & 4. Hence the Chancellor's query whether the glass is inserted here as it used to be. XII. Talbot

POOLEY.

(N. flat tomb, rail). Here lie interred the remains of Henry Pooley Esquire, of Manchester, who d. at Bowness on the 17th of July 1848 aged 58 y.

RAINCOCK, FLEMING, BOLDEN.

(In. N. a bust). S. m. Fletcher Raincock Esquire A.M. (second son of the late Revd. William Raincock, A.M. rector of Ouseby, Cumberland, by Agnes, eldest da. of the late Fletcher Fleming of Rayrigg in this parish Esquire, Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries, formerly senior Fellow of Pembroke Hall, Cambridge, Recorder of Kendal and one of her Majesty's Counsel at law for the County Palatine of Lancaster. He d. at Liverpool the seventeenth of August 1840 in the seventy-second y. of his age, and was interred in the churchyard of St. James in that town, near the remains of his mother who after the death of her former husband married William Bolden of Liverpool Esqre. and d. the fifteenth of July 1809.

ROBINSON, GOULD.

(S). To m. John Robinson of Bowness who d. August 26th 1837 aged 47. Also of John Robinson his son who d. November 26th 1845

(of Bashall). Machell. Hill, & Clowes seem rightly to term the Chancellor's lioncels, lions; & Hill curiously makes the field of the quartered Harrington gules. XIII. Millum's 3 charges are called, hesitatingly, chamfreins (or caw heads) by Machell & Clowes. Hill & the Chancellor (who cites N. & B., 1, 178,) have probably hit the mark with bull's heads cal-ossed, but then the field gules should be argent (Coll. Arms, K. 7, &c.) XIV. Huddleston or Fleming. Hill oddly makes the fretty azure, & Clowes, the label one of 3 points. XV. Mareschal (the elder, Earl of Pembroke, King John's son-in-law, & founder of Cartmel Priory). Machell & Hill worry future enquirers by adding a chief azure. XVI. & XVII. Redman of Levens Hall. The Chancellor, in print, does not tassel the cushions as do Machell, Hill, Clowes, & himself in letter. The pomme is styled a hurt by Clowes. Hill declares that his No. 17 is "minus a lion," which nobody else says the coat ever had. XVIII. Osmotherley, (descended from Millum). The ravens should be sable if the ascription be right. But, in truth, this No. XVIII. is the hardest nut of all to crack. The College of Arms has ar. 3 rooks proper under Osmunderlaw of Langrigg, Cumberland (C. 39, 2nd cal. 16 b.) Elsewhere they are martlets. "The colours, may be anything," declares the Chancellor to the bewildered herald, after a personal inspection, & the supposed ravens wickedly shroud themselves as "three birds of some sort." Hill boldly calls them hawks sable, belled gules. If the coat be Thweng or Lumley, (who assumed Thweng's coat), both Lords of the Lumley fee in the Kendal barony (see Fergüson, p. 27) the arms should be argent a fess gules between 3 popinjays (or parroquets) vert. But there is a little difficulty here, interposes the Chancellor. These wretched birds are nothing so nice as green popinjays. Their colour "seems meant for gules." Stockdale hesitates between Lumley & Osmotherley. The E. D. N. alphabet, Coll. Arms in one blazon makes the jays argent, & collars the parrots as for Sir Robert Lumley, 1296. Lastly, the Chancellor springs upon us Allyson, of Yardley Hall, i.e., ar. a fess gules between 3 birds, all within a border sable or gules, (Coll. Arms, I.C.B., 2, 23 b. I. 9, 26, C. 39, 17 b.) XXI. Arthur Prince of Wales is the final suggestion of Clowes here, in face of which all other hypotheses may vanish. Hill, it may be added, has for his No. 21, 4ly 1 (& 4) an escallop, & 2 & 3 fretty. And so ends a great Westmorland puzzle.

aged 19. "And that knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep, for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed."—Proverbs, ch. xiii. v. 11. Also of Mary Gould, da. of John and Agnes Robinson and Wife of William Gould, d. July 19th 1846 aged 22.

Death has been here and borne away
A sister from our side,
Just in the morning of her day,
As young as we, she died.
We cannot tell who next may fall
Beneath thy chastening rod,
One must be first, but let us all
Prepare to meet our God.

NOTE.—Since these "Church Notes" were begun in 1874 many more inscriptions have necessarily appeared in such of the old country churchyards as remain open for interments, and Mr. Bellasis has thus printed some that even date their existence from the present year. He has done so, however, more because of a difficulty about drawing any hard and strict line of exclusion than from any sense of the importance of the new epitaphs, &c., in question to the genealogist, now that a General Registration is in force. With this excuse for not including in appendices every inscription in the 32 ancient parish churchyards of Westmorland existing in Dec. 1889 at the issue of this, the 2nd, and last volume of the "Notes," the compiler subjoins new inscriptions, more additions to old ones, and a few corrections, more or less material for portions of the printed text, for most of which Mr. T. Jennings of Kendal (without laying claim to infallible accuracy in all cases,) has very kindly made himself responsible. Doubtless, in the mass of data there will be room for much further emendations, and this despite the aid already received from friends and strangers throughout the county.

LOWTHER. Vol. ii., p. 181. Addenda to 6 Latin lines (from Dugdale's 1664 Westmorland Visitation, Coll. Arms C. 39, 2nd cal. 9.)

"Quod satis et vixi fessum vacat altera vita,
Quæ fugit o valeat, quæ vocat o veniet,
Vos mea progenies venientem hanc querite vitam
Pacati vultu est quæ fruitura Dei."

In giving the previous 6 lines, Dugdale reads "decimante" as "decem ante," & instead of the "e" ending "immense" & "mense," he puts the dipthong "æ."
